Archie 100 A Century of the Archibald Prize

In celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Archibald Prize, Archie 100 explores the history of Australia's most prestigious portrait award.

Arranged thematically, Archie 100 delves into the controversies and the commonplace, the triumphant and the thwarted, and honours the artists who have made The Archibald Prize the most sought-after accolade in Australian art today.

Since 1921, the prize has attracted entries from both prominent and emerging artists in Australia and New Zealand, and through the eyes of these artists we come face-to-face with iconic figures from our past including John Brack's 1969 portrait of Dame Edna Everage, and Wes Walter's 1983 portrait of Ian (Molly) Meldrum.

Walter's portrait captured Molly in his characteristic mid-sentence 'um' moment while hosting the iconic music show Countdown. Wearing his trademark Stetson hat and boots Meldrum is framed against a mural of a desert landscape in his Egyptian-themed home in Richmond.
